DRUGS

Start here to recover from drug use.

HOW DOES DRUG USE AFFECT YOUR BRAIN AND BODY?

There are many different types of drugs, including alcohol, club drugs, crack and cocaine, inhalants, marijuana, methamphetamine, opioids, prescription drugs and cold medicine, synthetics and more.

From anxiety and paranoia to weight loss and aggression, all drug use can negatively impact your brain and body, but how depends upon the type and amount of drug used, as well as the frequency of use. When you get the support you deserve, you can help improve your overall well-being.

DRUGS

⚠ LOOK FOR THESE WARNING SIGNS.

There are many different signs that can indicate someone may be experiencing a problem with drug use, but here are a few of the most common.

- Experiencing memory loss or blackouts
- Having accidents or injuries while under the influence of drugs
- Using drugs even though there are physical conditions that can be worsened by drug use
- Continuing to use drugs although it's interfering with work, school or other activities
- Using drugs despite knowing he or she will be driving, boating or doing something else that would be risky while impaired
- Experiencing physical symptoms of shakiness, tremors or slurred speech
- Having changes in financial means

If you or someone you know exhibits any of the warning signs above, it's time to talk to someone who can help.

Recovery is possible.

All across Iowa, people are recovering from problems related to their drug use. And you can, too. Getting help is one of the best things you can do for your relationships, work or school and all other aspects of your life. You don't have to do it alone.
