WHY DO PEOPLE STRUGGLE WITH SUICIDAL THOUGHTS?

While the reasons a person may experience suicidal thoughts are complex and varied, they indicate that the person is in need of support. It could be related to depression, the loss of a friend or job, or experiencing a divorce/ affair or any number of events that may be disrupting their life.

No matter why someone is experiencing these thoughts, it's important to know that help is available. With support, the vast majority of people go on to live fulfilling lives. And remember, talking with someone about suicide in a gentle and caring manner does not increase suicidal thoughts.

SUICIDAL THOUGHTS

⚠ LOOK FOR THESE WARNING SIGNS.

There are many different signs that can indicate someone may be thinking about suicide, but here are a few of the most common.

- Talking about wanting to die or to kill themselves
- Looking for a way to kill themselves, including online searches for suicide-related topics or buying a firearm
- Talking about feeling hopeless or having no reason to live
- Talking about feeling trapped or in unbearable pain
- Talking about being a burden to others
- Increasing the use of alcohol or drugs
- Acting anxious or agitated; behaving recklessly
- Sleeping too little or too much
- Withdrawing or isolating themselves
- Showing rage or talking about seeking revenge
- Experiencing extreme mood swings

If you or someone you know exhibits any of the warning signs above, it's time to talk to someone who can help now.

Recovery is possible.

All across Iowa, people are recovering from thoughts of suicide. And you can, too. Suicide is not inevitable. Help works.
